

County Awarded $400,000 HUD Grant

U.S. Representative Don Albosta (D-Mich. 10th Dist.), announced last Friday that Crawford County will receive $400,000 in federal funds for the rehabilitation of homes and for street improvements. The funds will be used throughout the county, primarily in the Grayling Township area.

"I am pleased to announce that these funds have been awarded to the people of Crawford County. I understand that previous grants of this kind to the county were used, among other things, to make area homes more energy efficient and thereby reduce home heating bills. This is a great example of how federal money can be well spent," Representative Albosta said.

The $400,000 grant has been awarded under the Community Development Block Grant Program of the U.S. Dept. of Housing & Urban Development. This is the second year of funding under the multi-year program. Crawford County has now been awarded a total of $800,000 under the HUD program.

By Joe Schrader

Records show that Hanson Hills was part of 13,760 acres donated to the State of Michigan by the estate of Rasmus Hanson in the early 1900's. Statute provided that the property was to be used "for an encampment ground for the State Militia, for a game preserve, and for recreational purposes by the State and local units of government."

Through the years, Hanson Hills, which makes up 286 acres "more or less" of the donated property, has had a history full of ups and downs.

Perhaps the park enjoyed its finest hour in the 1950's and 1960's when skiing and tobogganing, snow sculptures and winter carnival activities brought throngs to the area, including trainloads of downstaters who converged on Grayling to join the festivities.

The echoes of those crowds are buried now somewhere in the rolling hills of the park, and the history since those "good old days" has been mostly downhill. Perhaps the final blow was the "business for profit" wrangle that festered for years before a settlement agreement was finally reached in 1977.

In recent years, the only activity seen there is some skiing when snow permits, some winter carnival events if weather permits, and vandalism that has left the park buildings in a condition of general embarrassment. In short, a promising community recreation site was left to die an agonizing death through legal struggles and the inattention that followed.

Can Hanson Hills ever regain the pride that is now obscured somewhere by conditions that appear ramshackle to say the least?

Howard Taylor and the Grayling Recreation Authority think so, and efforts have begun to attack the monstrous job of clean-up, paint-up, fix-up, minimum standards that must be met before longer-range plans can be tackled.

"It has not been a year-round park for local people to enjoy, and I think that's what we need," said Taylor, who became interim manager June 2 after serving on the Recreation Board since January. Taylor took the non-paying job because he is confident the future of Hanson Hills can be turned around, and it can thrive once again on a year-round basis.

Last week, three employees began work at the park under his supervision, provided by a COOR Intermediate School District youth employment program. Taylor lined up 30 projects he hopes can be finished in the next seven weeks when the employment period for the workers ends. By Thursday, they had barely scratched the surface. Wherever one looks, obvious things need to be done.

"What I need is tools and equipment to get this job rolling," Taylor said last week when assessing the scope of the assignment, "things like paint and brushes, brooms, wheelbarrows, a lawn mower." The latter item was added when Taylor's mower he brought from home refused to whack down some heavy weeds an employee was attempting to level near the ski lodge.

Undaunted, Taylor is already looking beyond the park's immediate needs. Three softball fields are planned for construction this summer, he said, the effort being spearheaded by Bob Smock and local slow pitch softballers. Although cosmetic needs come first, Taylor envisions pleasant family picnic sites, nature trails, added ski lifts in the future for winter use. Opening of a horse arena is on

LMPO to Meet Saturday, July 4

(Special to the Avalanche)

Annual elections will be the focus of attention at the next general membership meeting of the Lake Margrethe Property Owners' Association, at 10 a.m. Saturday, July 4, in the St. Francis Episcopal Church hall. Each year at the July meeting, the association elects three candidates to three-year posts on the nine-member board of directors. Directors then choose officers for the coming year.

Incumbents whose terms as directors expire this year are H.E. "Ned" Swayze, association president, Gerald A. McEvers, and Rex Moulton.

All property owners between the Lake Margrethe shoreline and surrounding public lands are eligible to become voting members of the association. Non-voting "associate" memberships are open to others who support the environmental protection objectives of the association.

the docket, sponsored by a newly-formed Crawford County Fair Board. He is working with Milltown Festival planners to see if activities can be held there during the annual summer event scheduled for July 31-August 2, and the list of possibilities go on and on...

Jerked back to the needs of today, though, Taylor starts to think about "first things first." Ski tow shelters show evidence of vandalism. The doors on the ski lodge appear to have been bolted shut with the disappearance of the last patches of last winter's snow, with little regard for the mess left behind.

The Old Smokey Railroad Depot, donated to the park, stands with broken windows and peeling paint. Through the shattered glass, one can see a pair of abandoned vending machines inside, battered by pranksters who had little trouble gaining entry.

The toboggan building at the top of the slide stands in ruin, with only its stone foundation left to remind visitors that it once launched excited youngsters and adults on thrilling rides down the long slope that is now weed-infested and strewn with rubble. Manhole covers over pits as deep as 20 feet and hidden in the weeds are scattered about or missing altogether, and the Bear Museum buildings stands empty and alone.

A cursory look at park conditions now would lead one to believe restoration is a hopeless effort, but Taylor is confident things can be turned around. He

Jaycees Reach Canoe Race Goal

The Grayling Area Jaycees have successfully completed their effort to raise over $5,500 for the 1981 World's Championship Ausable Marathon Canoe Race. Local businesses responded favorably to a final effort by the Jaycees to complete the last $1,000 in Canoe Race Program ad sales. The $5500 will be used for canoe race prize money, trophies, promotion of the race and the printing of 20,000 copies of the Grayling-Oscoda Canoe Race Program Book.

Well over 100 Grayling area businesses have supported the 1981 Ausable Canoe Race with ads in the Program Book. Over $2500 in individual contributions to the race were also received. The Jaycees sincerely thank all of those businesses and individuals who have supported the race. The strong support for the race demonstrated by the Grayling community is outstanding and will be an important factor in attracting the interest of the media and potential prize money sponsors. Publication of the canoe race program is now underway and the book will be distributed two to three weeks prior to the July 24th start of the race. The Jaycees are also planning a local and state-wide publicity blitz for the Race. Press releases will be distributed throughout the state and both radio and T.V. stations will be contacted. Signs and posters announcing the Race will be distributed around Grayling in is convinced the park has promise - a future that will someday offer community members enough motivation to come out to enjoy its offerings.

Taylor lists some of the things people could donate to help out. Money for one, but in addition, paint and brushes, gasoline, glass, flowers, ducks and geese for the pond.

Also garbage bags and stain, wire brushes, sandpaper, glass cleaner, floor and wall soap. Mops and rags. Fertilizer, varnish, grass seed and rye will help.

Additionally, he needs volunteers, singly or in groups. Elbow grease is what's needed now.

But without quick community aid, the dream of the Recreation Authority is likely doomed to failure, and Hanson Hills will probably resume its trip into obscurity.

The ol' fella is making a plea this week...not for our turkey, but for the Grayling Booster Club in their efforts to bring their annual fantastic fire works display on July 4th...

The Boosters need money to defray the cost of $6,000 worth of fireworks they have purchased for this year's gala event...

Irv McIsaac, railroadman retired, is chairman of the contributions this year, and he stated that members of the club will be out collecting this week and next from the merchants and businessmen, and ol' Irv stated he hopes that those who were not contacted to send their donation in...no matter how much, to Booster Club, P.O. Box 279, Grayling...every little bit will help...so plan on giving when you are contacted...

The Booster Club has been putting on this 4th of July celebration for around 10 years now, and every year it has gotten bigger and better, to the extent it is one of the finest fireworks put on in Michigan...The Grayling Volunteer Fire Department personnel assists the Booster Club in the actual firing of the fireworks...

Irv also stated that the contributions are not only for merchants and that any individual who would like to help may send their money to the above address...all donations large or small will help the club out...even a dollar bill will do...

The club has gone in the hole for $800 two years ago and last year for $500...recently the Board of Directors discussed not sponsoring the event any more...or possibly cutting down on the expenses, if money wasn't available through donations...

In case you passed over page one to get to Our Corner, we would like to draw attention to the photo showing Emil Kraus and Al Cherven donating a huge jar of pennies to Irv McIsaac and Larkin Baker to be the first to donate for this year's 4th of July celebration...

So, we are sure that many, many people have come to enjoy the huge celebration and if you are inclined to help out this year's efforts, just look up at the address and send in your contribution...today...

Being the First Mate on USS Z-Bra, we were informed by the Captain, Larry McNamara, Saturday evening that a 12th hour bid came into the Mercy Hospital Radio-Thon held last Saturday, a group from the business office had topped the bid at $110.00 for the Shark-Marlin fishing trip on Lake Margrethe...this is beautiful...in the next couple weeks, the Captain, Irv McIsaac, Deck Hand and Bait tender and myself will have to meet so that we can check over the riggings and other incidentals to prepare for this group...just watch this column for further details for this outing...

Talk about surprises...we were led to believe all last week that our Traverse City family would be unable to come over for Father's Day because John had to leave for Iron Mountain Sunday afternoon for his work with Western Electric...even Friday we talked to Toni, we received Father's Day cards on Saturday, so the ol' fella laid in the sack until around noon, that is until we heard them outside talking to our bride who spends most of her free time with the flowers in the yard...all told we enjoyed a beautiful day, we hope many of our readers had the same...

Watch further issues of the Avalanche for the many items that the Grayling 4-H Group will be auctioning off during the Milltown Festival that will be held July 31st thru August 2nd...they have items from many celebrities from all over the country...and there may be a live turkey among the items that the group has solicited from the ol' fella...

Time to head for Ionia St., so good night T.J., Stef and Amber, we forgot to mention we talked to Amber Sunday evening to top our day...to everyone have a nice weekend...

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

THE GREAT THEME OF ROMANS

Romans 1:13-17

The great theme of Romans is salvation preached to everyone in the world so they may have an opportunity to be saved for all eternity.

1. I AM DEBTOR. Paul reminds us that we owe every person in the world the gospel of Jesus Christ in verse 13, he reminded them that he looked forward to having "fruit" among them. In verse 14 he says, "I am debtor both to the Greeks, and to the Barbarians; both to the wise and to the unwise." Regardless of one's culture or education, he still needs to know Jesus Christ to be saved.

2. I AM READY. Paul reminds us that because he owes every person in the world the gospel, he is ready to preach the gospel to those in Rome also. "So, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the gospel to you that are at Rome also." Verse 15. The motivation and power to preach the gospel comes from, "So, as much as in me is," he is depending certainly upon the indwelling presence and power of the Holy Spirit, rather than his own strength.

3. I AM NOT ASHAMED. Paul reminds us why he has great boldness with the gospel of Jesus Christ. "For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek. For therein is the righteousness of God revealed from faith to faith: as it is written, The just shall live by faith." Verses 16, 17.

Paul tells us in I Corinthians 15:3, 4 that the gospel consists of the death, burial and resurrection of Jesus Christ for our sins. This Bible message contains "the power of God unto salvation." The gospel is the only method of salvation which can save a person for Heaven and prevent one from going to Hell. Salvation is to be preached to everyone, but only "everyone that believeth" shall be saved. Not only is one saved, but he is declared righteous. "For therein is the righteousness of God revealed." The only channel through which one can receive this great salvation is "from faith to faith." There can be no self-righteousness or works involved. This is the only plan of salvation God has, and it renders those who receive it "just" and assures them of eternal "life." Only he who is just by faith shall live.

My dear friends of Grayling, I trust you are trusting ONLY in the death, burial and resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins and eternal life. No one or nothing else will save you. Family, church, the 10 commandments, the golden rule, baptism or other church rituals, sincerity, honesty and sacrifice for others, may make you a nice person in the community, but only the shed blood of His eternal Son will please a holy God. I plead with you to make sure you are saved today. (adv.)

Government Leaders Try To Solve Budget Problems Without Cuts

Warren M. Hoyt, Executive Director, MPA

Governor William G. Milliken and legislature leaders recently directed budget experts to pursue ways to resolve current-year budget problems without resorting to general executive order cuts.

Budget officials said avoiding general cuts would not have been possible were it not for the recently-discovered fact that income tax refunds will be about $55 million lower than earlier estimates due to fewer property tax credits and more accurate filings of exemptions.

The governor and the legislators reviewed the budget problems but left unresolved the question of whether to continue 5 percent cut in welfare grants that were imposed in June.

A decision on that issue need not be made for another 10 days.

Executive officials and legislators, however, disagreed on how to solve the remaining $120 million gap.

Milliken is budgeting in $40 million in lapses (cutting the deficit to $80 million), but legislative leaders pushed for a higher figure of $65.8 million in lapses—appropriated money returned to the general fund from various state departments.

Other options to aid in balancing the budget deficit include borrowing as much as $40 million from the recreational land trust fund and delaying until fiscal 1981-82 the $18 million weekly payment to Medicaid vendors.

In a positive budget message, preliminary welfare caseload figures for May showed the first significant decline in two years.

Figures released by the Department of Social Services showed the caseload in May for families with dependent children dropped by about 3,700 cases and general assistance declined 2,300 cases.

The ADC total was 241,219, compared to April's figures of 244,936.

The GA caseload showed a total of 112,954, compared to April's total of 115,217.

Chris Kissmer, of the department's policy office, said the ADC drop was probably due to continued implementation of the state's stepparent responsibility law. The law, which took effect in April, requires stepparents to bear financial responsibility for their stepchildren.

Senate Votes To Repeal Auto Emissions Test Program

The state Senate has voted to repeal the auto emissions testing program slated to begin in Southeastern Michigan in January.

The program was begrudgingly approved last year under the threat the federal government would withhold construction permits for new industries in areas not complying with the program under the Federal Clean Air Act.

Permits were being sought at the time for construction of new General Motors and Volkswagen of America plants in the area.

Senator John Hertel (D-Harper Woods), sponsor of the repealer bills, said the program was "hanging over the heads of the people in the Southeastern Michigan area" as Congress is considering repeal of the federal act.

Hertel noted that even if Congress fails to repeal the act, the Reagan administration has no intention of enforcing the provisions of the federal law.

As approved last year, the program, as a condition for registration, would require annual pollution tests on all vehicles registered in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties if the vehicles are less than eight years old.

If the vehicle does not meet pollution standards, owners would be forced to make up to $50 in repairs before receiving registration clearance.

Provisions of the act could be extended to other areas in the state found to be in violation of clean air standards.

And here's another advantage of a First Savings NOW Account. First Savings has 28 offices in 21 communities so that means you won't have a problem cashing a check when you're out of town. Your funds are insured to $100,000 by the FSLIC. And of course your cancelled checks are returned each month. So — if you're looking for the best checking account deal in town — Come to First Savings of Saginaw, the one for all.

CELEBRATED GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith of Maple Forest celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on June 16th.

Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Many friends, neighbors and relatives gathered on June 6 for a surprise 25th anniversary party for Chet and Shirley Johnston. They were married June 23, 1956.

The party was given by their son David of Mt. Pleasant, and their daughter Debbie Rasmussen and her husband John of Grayling.

Approximately 80 people attended this special event and enjoyed playing horse shoes, jarts, cards and also enjoyed a delicious lunch.

Chet and Shirley received many lovely gifts, including a Grandfather Clock from their children.

A very nice time was had by all and the Johnstons were very surprised. Out of town guests were from Flint, Waterford, Saginaw, Alma and Mt. Pleasant, Michigan.

La Leche League Meeting

"Nutrition and Weaning" will be the topic for discussion at the July meeting of Roscommon La Leche League. The meeting will be held on Thursday, July 2 at 7:30 p.m. at 209 Seneca Trail, Prudenville. This is the last meeting of this series; a new series will begin in August in Houghton Lake.

La Leche League believes that mother's milk is the best food for baby; more importantly, that breastfeeding gives the baby the best start in life.

The discussion will include suggestions about nutrition for nursing mothers and their families, as well as information about weaning the breastfed baby.

Expectant mothers are encouraged to attend the series of meetings before the baby arrives. Nursing babies are always welcome. For further information, or for breastfeeding help, call Carolyn Crist at 275-8431.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our children, friends, relatives and neighbors for making our 25th anniversary such a special event. We received so many lovely gifts and the party in our honor was so nice and a time we will never forget. Thank You All.

Chet & Shirley Johnston

Mr. Whitey Madsen,
I am currently a senior at Grayling High School. As long as I can remember I have always had to keep my fingers crossed and pray that our millages would pass. We have been very fortunate to have had few sports and extra curricular activities cut.

It hurts me deeply to see the failure in the millage. I understand that many of the residents in this community can not afford the tax increase. I hope in return the people of our community can understand all the cut backs that will be made in the Grayling Areas education.

I have been involved in many extra curricular activities. They have been both enjoyable and beneficial. I have heard so many people say it's time to get back to the basics. That is like trying to turn time backwards. At one time the basics (reading, writing and arithmetic) could get one by well in the world. A lot has changed and that extra boost is needed by students to get by among all the competition and complexity in which we live today.

As a senior, the millage failure is like having climbed to the top of a ladder and then having someone take it from underneath you.

I am not trying to persuade anyone. There is no way we can change the conditions in which we live. I just hope we will receive another millage vote and another chance and I hope everyone will carefully consider both sides of the issue.

Dear Whitey:
Enough is enough! Pastor Barnett is a man whose ready smile and thoughtful consideration of others is to be commended, but whose reasoning is a bit hard to follow. He appears to be imputing to the seven local ministers who disagree with his motives perilously like those attributed to the Chicago Seven who disrupted the Democratic National Convention in Chicago a few years ago. This sort of paralogic thinking (thinking which is parallel to, but not the same as, logical thinking) can lead down dangerous paths. In his letter on page eight of the Avalanche he accuses the Grayling Seven of "mixing church and state." Yet two columns over he says, "Let us be reminded only God has the right to take a human life (and) He has given that authority and responsibility to government to curb internal violence among individuals and defend our nation in righteous warfare."

Under the sort of reasoning, the legally constituted governments today in Cuba, Viet Nam, Nicaragua, South Africa, China and Russia are morally justified in what they do. I take violent exception. Granted, the legal government of these countries was established after insurrection and bloodshed, but so was that of the United States after the revolution of 1776. And all claimed legal, moral or spiritual justification while the bloodshed was going on!

He seems to be saying that the Grayling Seven are Liberals and Humanists. Is that all bad? If so, then George Washington can be added to his list, for he was a land-owning former British officer who didn't want to pay taxes and led a rag-tag bunch of armed insurrectionists. And add Thomas Jefferson, a strict constitutionist. Today he would have been the intellectual power behind those who protested the Viet Nam war. After all, the Constitution states that only Congress shall declare war. And Congress never declared that war.

And just for good measure, put in Abe Lincoln too. There was a real Liberal and Humanist for you! The Grayling Seven are certainly in great company!

Frighteningly, I have heard the same sort of thing Pastor Barnett seems to be saying long before now. I quote. "The streets of our country are in turmoil. The Universities are filled with students rebelling and rioting. Communists are seeking to destroy our country. Russia is threatening us with her might. And the Republic is in danger. Yes, danger!...from within and without. We need law and order! Without law and order our Nation cannot survive!"

I feel confident Pastor Barnett would not want to be thought of as believing today what that person did in 1932. It was Adolph Hitler.

Sincerely,
Jack Mason

SKI FINALIST—Whisked to California's Heavenly Valley, winned and dined amidst the slot-machines and neon signs of Lake Tahoe's South Shore, Rick Rutkowski of Crested Butte, Colorado, and a former Grayling resident, joined finalists from around the nation in the Nastar National Championships, held April 14, 1981. Undaunted by push-button bars, topless revues, and "Sierra cement", Rick skied in five races over two days, finishing second in his age class. "I finally put it all together", Rick commented, "and raced better than I ever have".

Elsewhere in the nation, Crested Butte's top lady telemark racers, Penelope Street and Julie Neils, placed first and second in the national competition in Telemark, Wisconsin.

Passengers included this pictured group of Michigan Economic Development officials, along with D&M executives who arranged the scenic trip to introduce the group to the abundant growth opportunities in northern Michigan.

According to D&M Spokesman Glen Highfield, the "trip tik" included a stop at Cheboygan for lunch and return to Grayling, where the group convened at the Holiday Inn.

Public Health is a "Good Buy"

Editor's Note: This is the first of a 3 part series on Public Health.

Public Health agencies have been in existence for decades. As medical technology advances, the role of public health remains interested in protecting the public's personal and environmental well being. Get to know the services of your local health department, you may be surprised to find an agency who is unique among all others in reaching so many corners of your community.

District Health Department No. 1 is the local agency representing Kalkaska, Wexford, Crawford and Missaukee counties. The word local is stressed and often used because it is not a state agency. The local department is governed by a Board of Health that is composed of local county commissioners. The Michigan Department of Public Health in Lansing is the provider of resource, technical assistance and certification regarding the health programs existing in local communities.

Prevention is the focus of public health programs and can only be seen as highly cost effective. When you consider a dose of vaccine may cost 50 cents, it is a bargain compared to the effects of polio or measles, which can leave a child with handicaps for a lifetime. A tuberculosis test will inform an individual in 3 days time if further medical attention or chest x-rays are needed, while experiencing no symptoms. A single case of TB advanced to the point of hospitalization at current estimated cost of $150 per day, could cost county government as estimated $4,750 on an annual basis. Public Health, through prevention and home treatment can treat the same patient for $85 monthly.

Personal Health Services is composed of nursing staff which deal with programs from infancy to the aged. Maternal and child health, Crippled Children, Tuberculosis skin testing and follow up, Venereal Disease (counseling, referral and follow-up), Scoliosis Screening among adolescents, Immunizations, Family Planning, Summer Topical Fluoride, Vision and Hearing Screening, Cardiac and Plastic Clinics. Hypertension Screening, are prevention programs found at District No. 1 and among most local health departments in Michigan. Special Projects that are state and federally funded are Medicaid Screening (physical examinations for Medicaid families ranging from age 0-21), Women, Infant and Children (WIC) Supplemental Nutritional Program, Adult Health Screening (physical examinations for senior citizens), and Home Health (nursing services to homebound patients).

District Court

Allen Gordon Anderson, 31, Grayling, plead guilty to charges of impaired driving and driving on a suspended license. He was fined $255 or 14 days in jail on the first charge, sentenced to 3 days in jail and $85 fine or 10 additional days on the latter charge.

Frank Lee Caba, 50, Flat Rock, MI., plead guilty to impaired driving and was fined $255 or 14 days in jail.

Victor H. Rice, 42, Roscommon, plead guilty to illegally killing a deer and was fined $108 or 10 days in jail, ordered to pay $50 restitution and placed on probation for one year.

Jeff Milk, 18, Roscommon, plead guilty to illegally killing a deer, was fined $108 or 10 days in jail, ordered to pay $50 restitution, and placed on probation for one year.

Peggy Sue Rice, 23, Roscommon, plead guilty to fleeing and eluding and was fined $105 or 10 days in jail and placed on probation for one year.

Gerard R. Revercomb, 21, Newark, Oh., plead guilty to being a disorderly person by intoxication in a public place and creating a disturbance. He was fined $65 or 7 days in jail.

Strolling Around Town

By Fay Bovee

The lady on State Street, with all the flowers every year, Mrs. Gildner has been hard at work getting all the petunias in and watering the roses and we also noticed some new front porch carpeting. I've also been told that there are new shrubs and flowers on Lawndale - I haven't been over there yet. Going down Lake Street, St. Mary's has flowers in their planter, the Brad Jarmins have flowers on the corner curb, Mrs. Nelson has her unusual planter full of petunias again and at the corner of Chestnut the Edggar McPhersons have their planter boxes filled, and on Maple, the Ockermans have planter boxes full of bright flowers. A peek down Chestnut also revealed flowers planted around the porch at the Perry Wells home.

I received a call from one of my readers wanting some information about neighborhood nuisances and wondering what is being done in Grayling. I was happy to report that there is much being done around the town, so many people are trying very hard to fix up their places - it's not easy to grow things in our sand, but some of the vegetable gardens around town attest to the fact that there is a lot of time being spent on them.

The George Hiltons have a nice looking one and the Prauses on Elm seem to have one well under way. Mrs. Broadbent, with the help of her daughter, Elaine, has a nice one started. I'm sure there are a lot of other ones tucked away in back corners of lots. In the north end of town, some of the older homes have been fixed up, yards fenced in and all junk and weeds disposed of. Your junk may be valuable to you; if it is, please hide it in a garage, shed or behind a closed fence, your neighbors may not enjoy looking at it, and it certainly doesn't impress visitors to our city, whose dollars we like for our economy.

Best Color

White paint is the most durable of all colors. The lighter the color of the paint, the less slowly it will fade. Dark shades fade much more quickly.

UpNorth

By Michael Delp

Opening day for the hunting of trout was almost two months ago. The day broke, literally, and the entire sky filled with rain and scudding grey clouds. The other problem was the temperature. Anytime it gets below fifty you're going to have trouble spotting a trout fearless enough to stick his nose above the surface of the AuSable or any other river, for that matter.

I didn't need a guidebook. The water was semi-familiar and given a few drams of Yukon potion I knew the bottom would seem to rise up to meet the contours of my waders. After all, I had new flies. I had a new fishing reel. I even had a new fly line, rocket taper, the kind you need to blast across river and into a thicket for that special rise.

Above all, I had new waders, fresh out of the plastic factory and ready to handle even the worst of deadfall.

With these new waders I felt like I had just stepped out of an Orvis Catalog, or at least a True Value Hardware Store, and I didn't care whether it was raining, snowing, or there were giant balls of ice falling on me. I was going fishing, despite the working of a terrible concoction of hops, various sunbelt grains, coffee and some of the first bacon and eggs I've had since a long ago mountain expedition in Nethers, West Virginia.

Anyway, the fishing promised to be two degrees less than "satisfactory" which is what they say on those Chamber of Commerce hot lines. There we were on top of a steep bank, semi-awake and almost senseless. With all the lore and advice I'd collected over the winter at various trout type meetings, friends in tow, I headed down to the water, jabbering about lunger brown trout, the visions I had seen once near Rainbow bend, and how I was going to knock the pectoral fins off any fish I saw.

On the bank, just above what is popularly known as "Hump Bend", we were greeted to a sight which would make even the most entrenched suburban fisherman, replete with a thousand dollars worth of vests and tackle at least hopping angry. The whole scene there on one of the world's most renowned trout harvesting, water farms, was absolute chaos. This was not a trout stream, I muttered to myself. This is a shopping mall. This is like fishing in a concrete trough in front of Hudson's. The only thing left to do was sit down and absorb a bit more antifreeze for my assault on both fish and man.

We are often struck by lightning ideas during times like this. There was a way out. There was no method to electrify the river, though I knew many of the riparians had pumps gouged into the banks at strategic locations. Throwing rocks was out of the question since I didn't want to disturb the delicate balance between me and my companions and I didn't want to upset the connection between the trout and the precious few inches of stream bottom they seem to dwell on for most of the year.

My other plan was simple. I'd slip in, sort of like you'd slip on to a crowded elevator with a baby in your arms, and once in mid-stream, just slow down the procession. No, I would stop in mid-stream and start throwing my fly all over the water. Even most of these myopic bamboo waders could see I was nothing to contend with and they'd either get out and go around, or just stand far enough off amongst themselves and twitter about form and technique, and I'd get all the fishing.

As it worked out I was almost run over and left for flotsam, but I stuck it out, and was treated to a late afternoon of sunshine, Hendrickson's and a chance to reel in some of Michigan's finest meals. During this entire time I found the one true way to dispose of nosy, tea-totalling fishermen. When someone would tumble up looking for a lost set of keys or a wallet and ask what I was using for a fly the reply always shot back: "Bumblebees".

Then, I'd walk over to the bank, swoop my hand through the tag alders and pretend to thump a bee into submission. So I could string him on a hook. Then I'd move downstream or upstream depending on what direction he took, and whoop and swear once in a while.

It must have worked, because, as I said before, I fished most of the afternoon alone. Occasionally I'd stop for more social lubricant, and a chance for my heart to slow from all the adrenalin it had processed while I caught fish.

Now, if you're wondering why you bothered to fight through this tangle of felonious journalism, there is some redeeming social value to following this deranged account. I have given much serious thought to my manic devotion to stumbling up rivers in the dark reeking of insect repellent while fighting off other fishermen. It all goes back to recent concepts of local religion I've been reading about. You see, fishing is as good a form of religion for me to wrap my mind around. Infest if you like, similar to the legendary earwig which is said to be able to bore into the brain through the victim's ear and infest him for life. I suffer from more than passing periods of disturbed behavior when I get close to free-flowing water.

When you're with trout you know they won't lie, cheat, or steal from you and they won't finger you for money. They won't ask you to get elected and they won't ask you to clean up your yard. They are the perfect biological example of a lesson in the economy of motion and instinct. They are probably very stupid, given they have brains the size of peas, but they are truly capable of knowing when something is amuck and will not tolerate any nonsense.

You see it works this way: when I'm fishing I give little thought to being a "liberal humanist". People who think I am and will harrangue and rage about cosmic freedom and redemption or my inability to see through skull tunnels, cut no slack, as they say. Nothing gets me out in the middle of a river faster than someone trying to save me from myself. Anyway what have you got left if you never had a flyrod in your hand or fished with a bumblebee?

Crawford County Avalanche

Letter to the Editor,
Last week I received a "chain" letter in the mail which promised me "good luck" if I sent 20 copies of the letter to friends, relatives, etc. It was obviously sent by someone who wanted to wish me "good luck". I certainly appreciate that persons thoughtfulness and concern, however I would like to reassure them that my trust is completely in the Lord God and not in the sending of letters to receive blessings.

Although the letter starts out with what appears to be a quote from the Bible, "Trust in the Lord with all your heart and He will acknowledge and He will light the way", I believe it is really a combination of several Bible verses or phrases.

We must be very careful and discerning about incorrect or incomplete scripture verses or taking them out of context. Even Satan quoted scripture to Jesus when He was tempting Him, and Jesus responded with scripture which glorified God.

We must do likewise and the chain letter, after the initial quote, did not glorify God nor edify Christ, therefore, I have to reject it as something that is not God's will for me to do.

Our trust should be totally in the one true and living God and not in "luck" or superstition or in money, self or whatever else we may choose to be our "God".

Again, I do thank the person for their thoughtfulness and I would ask that they pray for me, my family, and everyone in Grayling that there might be a revival of the "Spirit" of God and that many lost souls would be saved and come to know and trust Jesus Christ as their personal Savior. No greater Blessing could we ask than this.

Doodles From The Tall Timber

Wendell L. Hoover
Park Interpreter

One morning recently, just after daybreak. I was awakened by an occasional rapping which I assumed came from the front door. I wondered if the doorbell was out of order and what was so important at this early hour. The rapping continued as I went to the door where I expected someone to be waiting, but the porch was vacant except for a red squirrel at the bird feeder. As I started back to bed, a woodpecker flitted by the front window. I then realized that mating season for the Hairy and Downy Woodpeckers was in full swing and that the siding on the house gave a more resonant sound than the trees in the yard. Both the Hairy and Downy hammer on dead limbs as part of their courtship ceremonies and to establish territory for others of their kind. The siding was not full of ants but only a substitute for a dead tree.

We often see both species in the Park and, except for size, they look pretty much alike. The Hairy is the larger being some 9 inches long or Robin-size, while the Downy is only 6 inches long or Sparrow-sized. The males of both species have a red patch on the back of the head. The Hairy does not have spots on its white back while the Downy does. For me at least, it is the size which is the identifying characteristic even if only one bird is in view. The females of both species look very much like the males but lack the red spot on the head and, again, it is the size that will help you identify the bird. The Hairy is somewhat more shy than its smaller relative, but both will come to a feeder for suet or to rap on your siding during mating season.

Jazzercise: Physical & Mental Conditioning

Anywhere from 25 to 45 enthusiasts get together twice a week at Grayling High for Jazzercise, a dance-fitness program aimed at both physical and mental conditioning.

Pictured is Chris Bills (center) and a group of students going through a routine, one of a group of 13 that practices each night. Ms. Bills, a fulltime tax appraiser in Oscoda County, teaches Jazzercise four nights a week in Grayling and Mio.

Men and women, young and old, have been getting in shape in her classes since January, toning up by using routines which concentrate on different parts of the body, physical and mental. "It's a release," Ms. Bills says about its stress-relieving features.

Jazzercise was created a number of years ago by Judi Sheppard Missett, who has since developed the program so that it is valued around the country, and in many foreign nations as well. (Joe Schrader photo)

Problems... Problems

People chuckle when they see a baby who seems to have the weight of the world on his shoulders. What can he possibly be thinking about that makes him seem so pensive?

His thoughts probably aren't very serious, for babies often strike delightful and comical poses that enliven the family photo album.

But babies grow up and become adults, with real problems and difficult decisions to make.

Don't forget, as your baby matures, to emphasize those things that will enable him to cope with his future. Don't forget love, discipline, understanding... and especially, don't forget his spiritual training.

Bits O'Talk

On May 22, 1981, Mrs. Donald Bentley and children drove to Detroit to pick up Mrs. Bentley's mother, Fr. Anny Mueller from the airport. Fr. Mueller will stay for five weeks and will leave on June 28th. This is Fr. Mueller's 3rd. trip to Grayling and she has noticed the improvements and changes that have taken place since her last visit in 1976. She enjoyed, also walking on the newly paved Lake St.

The dedication service of the R.L.D.S. Church on Sunday, June 21st. included out of town guests, Leta Babbitt, Oneita Pearce & Dorothy Jones, of Kalamazoo.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kasper and Wayne and Donna and baby all of Davison visited his mother, Mrs. Joseph Kasper for the week. All of them went to Mackinac Island on Wednesday and the Tahquamenon Falls on Thursday. Wayne Kasper has returned from West Germany on a 30 day furlough.

Jonathan Thomas, the son of Thomas and Linda Feldhauser of K.I. Sawyer A.F.B. was baptized Sat., June 13, at St. Mary's Catholic Church, by Father Rabior. The Godparents are Linda's sister and husband, Denise and Warren Cooley of Sterling Heights. The baptism was celebrated at the home of Jonathan's Grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Feldhauser. poundment also lies with the diminished flow of water downstream cause by diurnal fluctuations in the water levels impounded by the dams.

Tanner also commented on the broad-based threat which now stands in the doorway to improved water quality in the state. He cited three basic, well organized groups which have mounted a "broad-based attack" on Michigan's environmental quality: "Upper Peninsula Legislator types, Industry Types, and Chamber of Commerce Types." All three of these groups are now lobbying heavily and beginning to push for more diversified land use, and relaxed environmental standards in order to promote business and economic growth in a state almost crippled by a one dimensional economic source livelihood: the automotive industry.

So it was that both Tanner and Herbst exhorted the listening members to become more knowledgeable in environmental affairs and to use their influence in securing better water quality.

Although the luncheon address and the forum which followed were of major importance, the Michigan Council of Trout Unlimited also assembled to bestow honors on some of its most esteemed members. George Griffith, one of the founders of T.U. and a familiar personage along the AuSable with Art Newman was honored by the "Order of the Caddis" a new award given in recognition of a lifetime of contribution to the efforts of Trout Unlimited. Also honored was Hillary Snell, a commissioner of the DNR. In another award, reserved for professionals, but not necessarily T.U. members, Dr. Howard Tanner and Glenn Shepherd, editor and publisher of the sometimes controversial "Northwoods Call" were honored by receiving the "Order of the Hex", the distinction being that the giant Michigan May fly, latin name Hexagenia limbata, is usually referred to in its latin name by professionals and as the "caddis" by common name.

Not all was serious business, however, and as some of the accompanying photos show, there was plenty of activity surrounding the meeting which ranged from the display of beautifully crafted fly rods from Traverse City - Boardman River area legendary rod builder, Bob Summers, to local fly tiers and national recognized trout stamp artists Larry Cory and Rod Lawrence.
